M. B. (BUD) SERETEAN

If success in another business is any criterion, the Atlanta Hawks should prosper under the direction of new President-General Manager M. B. (Bud) Sereteen.

Sereteen, 51, was named to the basketball post in June of 1975, when it was announced he had purchased a minority share of Hawks ownership.

Sereteen founded Coronet Industries, a carpet, furniture and wall covering manufacturing company, in 1956 in Dalton, Georgia. The company went public in 1964, was listed on the New York Stock Exchange in 1968, and was merged with RCA in 1971. He continues as chairman of the board of Coronet.

Sereteen, who has a long-time interest in basketball, has completely immersed himself in all facets of the Hawks' operation, taking a personal role in everything from ticket sales to player negotiations.

A native of New York City, Sereteen was graduated from Oklahoma State and New York University. He and his wife, Farol, have a son, Scott, and a daughter, Tracy.

COTTON FITZSIMMONS

Head Coach
Director of Player Personnel

Cotton Fitzsimmons, an enthusiastic basketball tactician, is in his fourth year as coach of the Atlanta Hawks.

The enterprising Fitzsimmons came to Atlanta in May of 1972 after compiling winning records at Moberly (Mo.) Junior College, Kansas State and the Phoenix Suns.

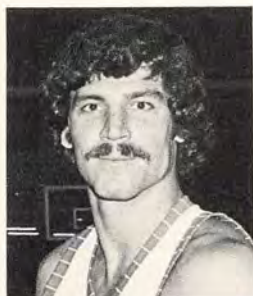

He extended his victorious habits with the Hawks by leading them to a 46-36 record in 1972-73, but since then has encountered two sub-par seasons. He intends to return to the positive side of the ledger in the immediate future.

During a nine-year stint at Moberly, Fitzsimmons captured the junior college national championship in 1966 and 1967. He then advanced to Kansas State of the Big Eight. The Wildcats, picked to finish sixth in preseason polls, surprised everyone by winning the conference title and recording a 20-8 overall standard. That showing earned Fitzsimmons league Coach-of-the-Year honors.

In 11 seasons as a college head coach, Cotton won 258 games and lost only 78 for an impressive .768 winning percentage. Many observers, however, didn't believe he could make the transition from college to the pros when Phoenix hired him before the 1970-71 campaign.

Fitzsimmons proved the doubters wrong by taking a Suns team that had won 39 games the previous year and guiding it to its first winning season in history — 48-34 in the tough Midwest Division. He bettered that record by a game the next year and then moved to Atlanta.

Fitzsimmons, an all-American at Hannibal (Mo.) LaGrange Junior College, received his Bachelor's and Master's degrees from Midwestern University in Wichita Falls, Texas.

BOB KAUFFMAN

Assistant General Manager

Bob Kauffman, a seven-year NBA veteran with four different teams, was named to this newly created post in October of 1975. He became one of the few players in history to move directly into such a high management position.

Kauffman's duties include sales and promotions, scouting and generally assisting team president and general manager Bud Sereteau.

Kauffman, a two-time small college all-American at Guilford (N. C.) College, finished his active playing career as a reserve center and forward for the Hawks in 1974-75. He came to Atlanta from Buffalo in the 1974 New Orleans expansion draft as part of the Pete Maravich trade with the Jazz.

Although his playing time was limited the past couple of years by arthritis in his hip, Kauffman always gave 100 per cent. He participated in three all-star games while with the Braves, after having started his career with Seattle and Chicago.

GENE TORMOHLN

Assistant Coach

The well-traveled Gene Tormohlen works long and hard during what amounts to a split season for the Atlanta Hawks.

From the time the Hawks go to training camp in September until the colleges start playing the beginning of December, Tormohlen serves as Cotton Fitzsimmons' right-hand man on the Hawks' bench. From December through March, he covers the collegiate basketball trail, evaluating talent for the spring draft.

One of Tormohlen's more important discoveries has been John Drew, runnerup for NBA Rookie-of-the-Year honors in 1975. Tormohlen scouted Drew while he was leading Gardner-Webb College of Boiling Springs, N.C., into the NAIA tournament. Gene liked what he saw, the Hawks drafted Drew in the second round and the 6-6 forward stunned the league with his first-year performance.

Tormohlen has a solid background for both aspects of his job. He played five seasons for the Hawks in the NBA after spending one year with the Kansas City club of the American Basketball League. The man they call "Bumper" played his college ball at Tennessee.

Gene and his wife, the former Julie Stafford, have two children, Gina and Tommy.

MEDIA CREDENTIALS

Requests for single game and season press passes for Atlanta Hawks home games are handled by Public Relations Director Jim Schultz. (Home phone: 404 433-0281.) Written requests are preferred and credentials are issued on a first-come, first-serve basis. The press table on the floor is used by working members of the media only.

JOE O'TOOLE

Trainer

One of the most respected men in the business, Joe O'Toole is in his seventh season as the Atlanta Hawks trainer.

A veritable Jack of all trades, O'Toole has a hand in many facets of the Hawks' operation. In addition to overseeing the team's physical needs, he also serves as the Club's traveling secretary and takes care of many details that might otherwise be ignored.

Joe, in his third year as Chairman of the National Basketball Trainers Association, joined the Hawks from an assistant trainer's job at the University of Wisconsin. He received his Bachelor's degree from Cortland (N.Y.) State, a physical therapist certificate from the Mayo Clinic and his Master's degree from Indiana University.

On the road and between off-season physical therapy assignments, Joe ties macrame projects. A native of Waverly, New York, he is married to the former Rosemary Little. They have three children; Andy, Molly and Maura.

SKIP CARAY

Voice of the Hawks

The Atlanta Hawks continue a winning broadcast combination for the 1975-76 season. Skip Caray returns as Voice of the Hawks both on WTCG Television and WSB Radio.

Named Georgia Broadcaster-of-the-Year for the third time in 1974, Caray has been the Hawks' play-by-play man ever since the team moved to Atlanta in 1968. An honor graduate of the University of Missouri School of Journalism, he had done St. Louis University basketball, Missouri football and Atlanta Cracker baseball before joining the Hawks.

Caray, recognized as one of the best broadcasters in the NBA, is known for his easy style and straight-forward approach.

WTCG (Channel 17 in Atlanta), in its fourth season of telecasting the Hawks, carries 22 away games. An unusual feature of WTCG's programming is the rebroadcast of all except Sunday games at one o'clock the next morning.

WTCG is carried on CATV systems reaching almost 330,000 homes in Georgia, Florida, Alabama, South Carolina and Tennessee. Many of the Hawks games also are broadcast by WRET-TV, WTCG's sister station in Charlotte, N.C.

WSB, one of the South's strongest stations, is the only local radio outlet the Hawks have used in their eight-year Atlanta history. This season WSB is carrying 50 Hawks games, including all home contests.

Easily one of the most exciting, unheralded players to come into the NBA in years... started 1974-75 opener at Chicago when Lou Hudson encountered sudden elbow injury and responded with 32 points and 12 rebounds... continued fast pace for several weeks before settling down to 19-point and 11-rebound performances... led Hawks in several categories... runnerup in official Rookie-of-the-Year balloting... Basketball Weekly picked him top first-year man... led league in offensive rebounds with 357... had highs of 44 points against New Orleans on November 16, 1974 and 25 rebounds against Los Angeles on December 28, 1974.

Possesses fantastic quickness, tremendous leaping ability and surprising strength... hardship 1974 draft choice from Gardner-Webb College in Boiling Springs, N.C.... first team NAIA all-America... as sophomore averaged 25.9 points and 13 rebounds in leading Gardner-Webb to 25-3 record and second round of national NAIA tournament... once scored 77 and 74 points in back-to-back games in high school... unabashed enthusiasm makes him a crowd favorite... with maturity (he was 21 September 30th) could develop into a truly great player.
